

And once
the storm is
you won't remember
through, how you
You won't even

I have always had a great passion for illustration and animation. This love has developed over the years, as I spent hours drawing and forming stories that linked the two together. The hobby eventually transitioned into a professional practice as I attended the University of Worcester, with the intention and ambition of bringing my imagination to life through the means of comic and book illustrations, posters, and hand drawn/digital animation.
